Holiday crafts

Room for everyone

A full house of young crafters and adult helpers was found at the Beaverhead Valley Artist Cooperative's Saturday afternoon workshop. Young crafters were able to participate in making all kinds of creations, including beaded bracelets and necklaces, craft foam photo frames, and sequined tree ornaments.

Young artists create gifts, ornaments

Saturday's gift and ornament workshop held by the Beaverhead Valley Artist Cooperative (BVAC) saw a roomful of young artists making their own handmade creations. With a number of projects available, everyone in attendance was able to take home several creations.

From glass beads and charms, one of a kind bracelets and necklaces were made. With craft foam, photo frames were created. With Christmas tree shapes, sequins, pins, and beads, ornaments were completed. Everyone took home something of their own, even receiving a gift bag on their way out.

This week's Beaverhead Valley Artist Cooperative holiday workshop will be the second annual Ice Sculpture Contest. It will be held from 1:00-4:00 p.m. in the State Bank and Trust parking lot. Fun prizes will be awarded, and kids of all ages will be able to try their hands at the unique artform of ice sculpting.

Be sure to walk by the Womack Building and see the window display of handmade gingerbread houses...stop in at the BVAC Gift Gallery to vote for your favorite! The gingerbread houses will be displayed until Saturday, December 18.
