COLLEGE PRESIDENT EXTENDS WELCOME TO NEW STUDENTS

The faculty and student body join me in welcoming each of you to Eastern's campus for the beginning of another eventful year in your life. Many and varied will be the reasons that students have for seeking to obtain additional educational experience. Usually these reasons can be summarized in two statements. You desire advanced education and specialized training to prepare yourself for a proper place in our complex society of tomorrow. You wish to develop your range of social interests in accord with your level of educational achievement.

The possibility of the total satisfaction of your de-

FORMER ILLINOIS COACH TESTING TALENTS OF GRID HOPEFULS

Coach Ken Karr continues to groom his Yellowjackets for its opener with Westminster at Salt Lake City, Utah, tomorrow with twelve returning lettermen headed by two-time all-conference guard Leo Schlenker, and co-captains Ron Ewing and Blase Dilulo.

The Yellowjackets, runner-up in last year's Montana Collegiate Conference, had sixty candidates out for its opening practice session. Returning lettermen include John Novasio, Bill Hilton, Bob Korin, Frank Gallaher, Stafford Hersrud, Ron Adams, Don Rothschilder, and Larry Mayes.

Competition for all positions seems keen as practice
