The following players are to make the trip: William Calder, forward; Lawrence Aber, forward; Charles Corbett, forward; Elmer Swanson, center; John Abrahamson, guard; Clyde Lucas, guard; Fred Kozenek, guard; and Oscar Bjorgum, coach.

RURAL EDUCATION STUDENTS BECOME ARTISTS

For a part of their work in the rural education class, the students discuss such subjects as playground equipment, school standards, and advantages of a well-equipped school.

Each student seemed to have a little different idea as to what the playground should have, and what the well arranged schoolroom should contain. It was then decided that each one represent his own idea by putting it on paper. The next meeting brought forth some very artistic plans of playgrounds and schoolrooms. These were made more interesting when they were shown as moving pictures in the slide machine. They brought up more discussion and with it came some satisfaction.

NEWS LETTER FAVORABLY RECEIVED

The weekly news letter sent by the class in advanced composition to the local papers in various counties was gladly received by the editors.

A good deal of space was given to the articles. Some of the editors have written expressing their thanks and asking that more material be sent. Other editors who were accidentally missed in the sending of the letter have written asking that they too receive information concerning activities in Eastern Montana Normal School.

HUMORIST SPEAKS AT GENERAL ASSEMBLY

A general assembly was held at the high school auditorium February 14 at 11 o'clock, at which time Geoffrey F. Morgan, noted lecturer and humorist, spoke to the Eastern Montana Normal School students and high school seniors.

Mr. Morgan's subject was "The Man Ahead." His words of advice were interspersed with clever and humorous remarks. His aim was to make his audience view themselves as they will be 20 years from now, and to have each one see the responsibility he has in making that person what he should be.

Mr. Morgan pointed out that we should save our health, and build our character and bank account for the man ahead. He said, "We each have or can acquire these things, and we alone can deliver them to ourselves 20 years from now."

PLAY PRESENTED FOR WOMEN'S CLUBS

The play, "A Fan and Two Candlesticks," was presented under the direction of Miss Martha E. Dewey of the speech department of the Eastern Montana Normal School, at a meeting of the Yellowstone County Federation of Women's Clubs, on February 20. Costumes for the play were made by the class in dramatic art. The cast included Miss Ruth Shively, Miss Thelma Burgess and Miss Irene Hendershott.

"THE LEARNED LADIES" ALL WOMEN CAST PRESENTS PLAY

The dramatics art class will produce the play, "The Learned Ladies" on Wednesday, March 12. This is a French play by Jacques Moliere. This play is in three acts, all of which take place on the same day. It is a satire on education for women. There are many amusing scenes in which the learned members of the family try to raise the rest of the household to a "philosophic aim."

The play centers around Trissatin, a poet, a favorite of the affected learned ladies, who tries to marry the younger daughter, in opposition to Clitandre, a pendant, a favorite of the father and the true lover of the daughter.

Class Makes Costumes

Because of the 16th century costumeing it is possible to have a cast composed entirely of women. The elaborate costumes required are being designed and made by the class.

The Cast

Chrysale, a worthy citizen, played by Mary Hampton; Philaminte, wife of Chrysale, played by Sarah Jane Jones; Armande and Henriette, daughters of Chrysale, played by Allene Beckett, and Lowene Lloyd; Ariste, brother of Chrysale, played by Catherine Frahm; Belise, sister of Chrysale, played by Thelma Wendte; Clitandre, in love with Henriette, played by Mary Price; Trissatin, a wit, played by Irene Hendershott; Martine, a kitchen maid, played by Elizabeth Leslie; Lepine, played by Madelin Hunter.

SUMMER SCHOOL BULLETIN READY

The summer school bulletin is now ready to send to 500 prospective students. It is hoped that all past records of attendance will be broken this year.

The enrollment of the 1929 summer quarter of the Eastern Montana Normal was surpassed only by the enrollment of the state university at Missoula. The summer school of nine weeks is one of the regular quarters of the school year. It enables a high school graduate to complete a normal school course in less than two calendar years, and offers to teachers now in the field an opportunity to work for a higher certificate.

The fees for the summer session are the same as for a regular quarter except that no non-resident fee is charged. The fine opportunities for outing trips and the delightful climate should attract many from other states.
