Couple wed in Las Vegas

Lisa Marie McNabola and Alexander Louis Roots were married November 28 in a double ring ceremony held at the MGM Grand Wedding Chapel in Las Vegas.

The parents of the bride are Dr. William McNabola and Sharon McNabola, both of Wilmington, DE. The groom's parents are Dallas Roots and Doris Roots of Big Timber.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father and wore a traditional long white strapless gown. She carried a bouquet of burgundy roses.

Her longtime best friend, Beth Splaine, served as Matron of Honor and wore a burgundy colored gown matching the bride's bouquet. Mrs. Splaine also sang a song especially selected for the occasion.

The best man was Andy Roots, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a celebratory wedding dinner was enjoyed at the MGM Grand by about 30 relatives.

A reception is planned for New Year's Day in Delaware.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Duke University in North Carolina, and the groom also graduated from Wake Forest Law School. The couple resides in Bozeman where the bride is employed by Multiband Communications, and also Bath and Body Works.

The groom is an attorney with Landoe, Brown, Planalp, Braaksmo & Reida Law Firm.
