AN APOLOGY.

The foregoing locals are fresh and up to date, but the balance of our side of the paper is matter that was printed last week. Like the man whose wife had triplets we say, "It doesn't happen very often."

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sorenson and two little children drove in from Dillon yesterday morning and will visit among friends in the valley for a week or two.

Fred Brown, the Gibbonsville watchmaker and jeweler, with a full layout of tools, arrived over from Idaho last week and is domiciled at the hotel in Wisdom.

Mrs. R. P. Willard and daughter Miss Lydia have gone to Dillon to remain during the winter, leaving Will and Jake to look after things on their places in this vicinity.

Col. Albert D. Shaw, of Watertown, N. Y., was elected commander of the G. A. R. at the encampment at Philadelphia last week. The meeting next year will be in Chicago.

Jim Sorenson came in from Dillon Wednesday evening about five o'clock on his bicycle, making a remarkably quick trip notwithstanding a heavy windstorm of about three hours' duration.

Mark Houston and family, of Lost river, Idaho, came in from that country this week and together with A. Larivee and family, to whom they are related, will soon leave for another part of Montana.

Henry Matteson and wife, of Darby, were camped in town several days this week. Harry and his friend Ben Chick got action on all their money and on all they could borrow last Sunday, making quite a clean-up.

Mrs. John N. Armstrong returned Wednesday evening from the Bitter Root country, after an absence of several weeks. She was accompanied by her half brother, H. W. Chambers, and Allen Baker of Grantsdale.

Johnny, Martin, Junnie and Henry Jackson camped Saturday night at the lake and caught about 150 trout and grayling. They could see a lot of bull trout in the lake, but they would not bite. The boys say it was cold as Klondike up there, and in the absence of sufficient bedding they had to keep fire all night.

Cut With an Axe.

Tom Ellis was down from the Swamp creek mine Monday, where Fred Schlegelhuber is operating extensively. He says that while Ralph Radcliff was at work on the cabin Saturday an axe which he was handling glanced and struck him on the wrist making a clean cut to the bone. Surgical instruments and appliances for dressing the wound were not to be found in the camp, and Fred took several stitches in the wound with a fish line (or rather a silk thread used for the middle strand of a fish line), and with the assistance of a box of camphor ice and good blood the patient is doing quite well.

The Standard's Birthday Number.

The Anacanda Standard's tenth birthday was celebrated by the management in getting out a wonderful work of the printer's art in the shape of thirty-four illustrated pages devoted to interesting themes looking back on the ten years of its existence and also retrospective of Montana from the time of the discovery of gold in Alder Gulch up to the present day. In this birthday edition the Standard introduces its new department of illustration to the Montana public. The big, interesting newspaper leads them all in the inter-mountain country, and few papers published in New York and some of the largest cities can equal it.

Bob Blanton has purchased the Wisdom meat market. Fine Big Hole beef always on hand.

A CHANGE OF BASE.

The next issue of the BREEZES will be printed in a building of its own in Wisdom, where seven mails a week will bring us better facilities for getting up a newspaper and the daily stage and express will help the work along.

Since moving to Jackson we tried to get a mail route from Bannack, but failed signally, and our subscribers in the Grasshopper valley are still furnished their mail via Wisdom and Divide. By moving to Wisdom we are a day nearer Dillon, Bannack and Polaris in postal matters.

We will be able, too, to furnish a fresher and more newsy inside, and it will be the aim of the publisher to make the Breezes more readable than ever before.

Since the paper was established in Jackson the Wisdom people have given it a hearty support along with the residents of the upper valley, and the management fully appreciates their kindness.

When located in our new quarters we will be pleased to have our friends call and tell us the news, and from our new stand we will endeavor to get around amongst the people in all parts of the valley and county.

George Tivies, of Salmon City, came over with Photographer Fowler, and is selling cigars for G. B. Hamilton & Co., manufacturers of that place.

Mr. Clark Buys a Castle.

A Washington special to the Miner dated Sept. 7 says: Stewart Castle, fronting on Dupont circle, to-day became the property of Senator Clark. The price named in the deed on record was only nominal, but $14,000 worth of revenue stamps was required, showing that the price paid was $145,000.

The Stewart castle was built many years ago and has been the scene of some of the most sumptuous entertainments ever given in this country. The Nevada senator at the commencement of his senatorial career, after the castle was built, became noted for his hospitality, and when the Chinese legation occupied the castle the same character of entertainment characterized it. The property comprises nearly 18,000 square feet. Senator Stewart has been endeavoring for years past to dispose of this property and plans were being perfected for building a his apartment house on the site and was understood that Senator Clark had agreed to take $200,000 of stock in lieu of one million was subscribed. It is now the belief in well informed circles that this plan will be abandoned and Senator Clark will erect a magnificent residence of his own. Other big residences of an imposing character are going up in that vicinity and the senator could scarcely find a better site.

LOVE FINDS A WAY.

How Two Minors Secured Marriage License at Ogden.

An Ogden special to the Salt Lake Herald of the 7th says: Arthur Bennett appeared to day at the county clerk's office with Miss Nettie Nelson and desired to procure a marriage license. Burnett was from Clinton, Davis county, and the girl from Riverdale, Weber county, their ages being respectively, 18 and 16. Miss Nelson's father was along and gave his consent to the issuance of the license, but no parent or guardian accompanied Burnett. It developed that both parents are dead, and that he had no guardian. The clerk pointed out that the statute would not permit him to grant a license to a minor without the due consent of parents or guardian.

But love laughs at legal obstacles, and in the course of a few hours the three appeared before Judge Rolapp with a petition setting forth the difficulties and praying that Mr. Nelson, father of the girl, be appointed guardian for the groom. The judge signed the required order without delay, whereupon the interested trio returned to the clerk's office and secured the license, Mr. Nelson signing as father of the girl and guardian of the boy. The young man's guardian is now his father-in-law.

Alvin De Witt gave Himself Up.

A Dillon special to the Standard of the 5th says: Particulars of the killing of old man McIntosh at Red Rock yesterday are at hand. Alvin De Witt, the man who did the killing, saved Sheriff Moore the trouble of a trip to Red Rock by coming to town by the midnight train and giving himself up. This morning he is out on bail and his preliminary hearing will be had after the inquest, which will be held this afternoon. The story of the killing is as follows:

De Witt was engaged in clearing out his water ditch and had reached a point where it runs along the highway in front of McIntosh's house. McIntosh came out and ordered him to stop work. He refused to do so, and McIntosh pulled a gun. De Witt remonstrated with him and said it would be cowardly to kill an unarmed man. McIntosh then told him to go home and get his gun and they would fight it out at ten paces. McIntosh then replaced the gun and while the men were still wrangling his little grand-daughter sneaked the gun out of his pocket and took it away and hid it.

After some further words the two men parted. De Witt going home and arming himself, returned. When he came in sight McIntosh opened fire with a rifle. De Witt returned it and at the second shot got his man, the bullet passing through McIntosh's heart and he died almost instantly, even before his wife, who was a short distance away, could reach his side.

Popular sympathy is with De Witt, as he has been "picked on" more or less by McIntosh and the latter was clearly the aggressor. McIntosh was an old timer and father-in-law of Judge Stapleton of Butte.

After a three days' investigation the coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide, which gave general satisfaction.

Rev. W. W. Edmondson and Mrs. Jennie Marshall, all of Bannack, were united in marriage on Sept. 2d at the Metlin hotel in Dillon. The groom has had charge of the M. E. circuit at Bannack for some time, but was recently transferred to the Livingston circuit.

M. E. Tebo, of Bloody Dick,

was a caller at this office yesterday.
