Must Be A Fool.

Last week's Shelby Independent contains the following, which is reproduced in these columns merely to show how much of a fool Ferguson can make of himself without half trying. Just think of a bunch of Shelbyites drinking "sorely against their wills;" that their "manly consciences" were overcome and the "tempter predominated"—all this in town where two weeks ago Ferguson and the inhabitants were the toughest lot that ever broke into or out of jail. Here's his item:

That the political situation in Montana is drifting into the rut to which decent men deplore, was witnessed in Shelby Tuesday, on election day.

True, the bar rooms of the town were closed so far as facing the bar was concerned, but in every conceivable place liquor could be had, and men, young and old, were on their feet, sorely against their will. The spirit of bravado at seeing others drink overcame their manly conscience and the tempter predominated.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Bonson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stopped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Reminding her that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Bonson is a well known resident of Keller, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic ointment and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by C. H. Drake.
