Youth Attends School in Hawaii Friday, Enters Beaverhead High Tuesday

Karl H. Schwab, high school sophomore, had a typical jet-set experience when he transferred from a high school on the island of Oahu to Beaverhead county high school at the start of the present semester.

Karl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwab, formerly of Dillon, accompanied his grandfather, Attorney John Collins when the latter returned from a several weeks' visit with his son-in-law and daughter in Hawaii. He attended his final class in the high school on Oahu on a Friday afternoon. The following Tuesday morning he enrolled at the high school here. And he spent more travel time coming to Dillon by rail from Seattle than it had taken in the flight from Hawaii to the U. S. mainland.

This was Attorney Collins' third round trip by air from the mainland to Hawaii. He reports his son-in-law and daughter in excellent health. Both were reared in Dillon and attended school here. Herman is a statistician with the Oahu Sugar Company, and his wife, Marguerite is an instructor in art and music in the schools. Mrs. Schwab is a gifted pianist and appeared in many concerts here and in the east before the couple moved to the Islands.
