

Beaverhead Lagging with '64 Centennial Assessment

Beaverhead County's support of the 1964 Montana Territorial Centennial financing drive was reported lagging far behind other counties of the state on the basis of the "Nickel per Capita" assessment recently announced by the Centennial Commission.

Thus far, according to Chamber of Commerce secretary Avery Conine, Beaverhead residents have contributed only $80, far short of the $359 quota.

The Centennial budget, based on 1960 census figures, calls for the following quotas:

- Armstead-Horse Prairie, $28.20.
- Big Hole Valley, $38.30.
- Dillon, $184.50.
- Dillon Rural, $73.65.
- Lima-Centennial, $35.05.

The Commission reminds citizens that all contributions are tax deductible and any donor giving $5.00 or more will receive a souvenir receipt in the form of a centennial certificate.

The "Nickel per Capita" assessment was assigned to promote early backing for the gala '64 program. Additional funds will be asked of the 1963 State Legislature but the Centennial Commission must obtain the early quotas on a statewide basis if they are to make a successful presentation to the legislators.

To Present Spectacular

Among the tentative plans set for the centennial year are the presentation in 12 state cities of "The Montana Story," a historical spectacular staged by the John Rogers Producing Co. of Fostoria, Ohio; a float in the Rose Bowl Parade on January 1, 1964, and the appearance of Gov. Tim Babcock and an All-Centennial High School Band in a national television program from the Rose Bowl city of Pasadena, Calif.

Howard Kelsey of Bozeman has also proposed to the commission the sending of a 20-car train to the 1964 Worlds Fair, advertising the Montana Centennial. Kelsey said he has already collected $15,000 to help defray expenses of such a project.

Another major event will be the Centennial Music Festival which will feature bands, choral groups and symphony orchestras directed by a nationally known symphony leader.

The 1964 plans also urge all Montana communities to promote celebrations in their local areas to further the centennial theme and these events will be listed in tourist brochures sent throughout the nation.

County residents wishing to make contributions are urged to contact Avery Conine at the Chamber office in the Museum Building or Charles Stauffer at the Tribune-Examiner.

Stores to Remain Open Friday, Saturday 'til 9

Christmas shoppers will be afforded extra hours in which to complete their gift purchasing this weekend as all Dillon merchants displaying Christmas merchandise remain open until 9 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday evenings.

A wide variety of attractive and economically priced yuletide items are available at all stores and stocks are reported the finest offered here in recent years.

Montana Winter Fair Opens January 26

Premiums of over $2600 are offered in the beef cattle division at the 17th annual Montana Winter Fair which opens in Bozeman on January 26, 1963, according to Howard G. Lewis, director in charge of the Hereford division and Carl Stimson, Belgrade, director representing Angus.

About 65 producers from at least 20 Montana counties are expected to show more than 300 head of cattle, the directors estimate.

Dillon Liquor Store Lists Holiday Hours

Dillon's State Liquor Store will change its schedule for the Christmas and New Years holidays, according to instructions received from J. E. Manfing, Montana Liquor Control Board administrator. The store will be open Mondays, Dec. 24 and January 31, but will be closed Tuesday and Wednesdays of both weeks—Dec. 25 and 26 and January 1 and 2.

Archie Hayter of Canada is visiting his sister, Mrs. Lorenzo Cushing.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tash left Monday for Riverside, Calif., to spend the holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dempster Tait, and family.

PEO Chapter AD will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Vivian Womack, with Mrs. Pat Juergens as co-hostess. Preceding the meeting, the group will attend the high school cantata.

Scoular, a junior majoring in aeronautical engineering, is also editor of the "News of the Flying Billikens," college newspaper, the Parks College editor for the University newspaper and yearbook, an officer in the Institute of Aerospace Sciences and Alpha Phi Omega National College Service Fraternity and is affiliated with Alpha Pi Sigma Social Fraternity.

He is attending Saint Louis University on a $4000 Civil Air Patrol scholarship in engineering.

Today's Bible Thought

"And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord." (Luke 2:8-11).

The WSCS will meet Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church with Frances West and Betsy Schwegan as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Myrtle Pewe wishes to extend a "big thank you" to all who responded to the urgent appeal for coffee bands. The response has been wonderful, she says. The final count on bands hasn't been finished, so please continue to save coffee bands, she concluded.

CANDY CANE CAPER—With the holidays almost upon us, Scott Williams of College Park, Ga., thought he'd get an early start and beat the rush. He holds a candy cane as he waits for his plane to start loading up in Atlanta. The candy should last him the entire trip.

Right— or Wrong

By George M. Melton

"Time goes, you say? Ah no. Alas time strays. We go." —Austin Dodson

This is a motto once carved on a huge fountain in one of the numerous parks in Chicago. And it carries with it one more story of our stockmen's trip to the National Livestock Show.

Our escorts, who had arranged our itinerary, had busses waiting to carry us from place to place. On each of these busses the drivers pointed out things of interest. They spoke through microphones so all in the bus could hear, and the people on our bus were almost instantly taken with the fine language and nice speaking voice and a certain kind of appeal our driver had.

He quietly introduced himself as Lloyd Rust. "Just call me Rusty." And from there on his wonderful memory, the historical background of every show place, which he carefully explained, endeared him to all of us. His efforts to inform us seemed above and beyond the call of duty.

The quotation at the top of this column had been erased by time and the water of the fountain but still Rusty quoted it. He remembered even the name of the author. The details and history connected with so many places precluded the chance that he could have memorized the talks he gave.

I could not help but think what a wonderful teacher he could be. And sure enough I found out in conversations with him, while waiting for the bus to load up, that he had graduated from a college in Chicago, through his own efforts and in odd times. And further that he had taught other drivers.

And, although he would be the last to mention it, he was probably one of the top men of his company. He had done some teaching, he said. And later I found out why teachers of his kind are in demand in Chicago.

Herewith are parts of an article that explains a wonderful endeavor now being carried on there by some really big forward-looking people. It seems America has that kind of folks and somehow they come out and show themselves when needed the most.

Becoming alarmed at the blight of unemployment that is settling on their city and on others, they decided that the only effective way to get these people jobs is to educate them.

So, in the beginning, they ordered 381 relievers back to school on pain of losing their relief checks. From there this kind of schooling has soared almost beyond belief. Next month enrollment in these schools will reach 8,000 and 10,000 more are waiting to sign up.

Nine months ago a cab company rejected five relievers as drivers because they could not fill out a trip sheet. But with night school treatment managed by a Mr. Hilliard and some 210 teachers (with more needed), these five all passed and were hired. Humble dramas of achievement are taking place in ten schools scattered over the city.

It's beginning to look like a two million dollar bargain (for that is what Mr. Hilliard needs to run his school, not much compared to the 16 million dollar Cook County monthly relief bill).

As a follow up on the cabbies, they decided to keep on with their schooling and for a model they can look to Hilliard's star pupil—a laborer, 43, jobless since 1959 who recently outshone hundreds of rivals in a stiff exam for high school entrance. "No kid of mine is ever going to drop out of school," he vows. That's saying a lot—he has 14.

Rusty has a little crew of 4 out at the edge of town, too, he told me.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Cornell and Roy Cornell will spend the holidays in Phoenix, Ariz., with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Cornell, who are spending the winter there.

Government Absolves Safeway Stores In Anti-Trust Action

The Government has dismissed the Antitrust action, as to Safeway Stores, Incorporated, which has been pending in the U. S. District Court in San Diego since Dec. 31, 1959. This was a companion action to the indictment of a number of grocery firms and the San Diego Grocers Association, which resulted in acquittal of Safeway after trial.

In commenting on the dismissal, Robert A. Magowan, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors, said "We naturally are pleased the government has dismissed the civil action against Safeway. This dismissal with the earlier acquittal on the indictment completely absolves Safeway of all charges in those cases."

Marine Corps Seeks Officer Candidates

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 14 — The Marine Corps is now accepting applications for the 33rd Officer Candidate Course which will convene at Quantico, Va., in March, Captain Larry A. Kaufman, Officer Selection officer for the Intermountain area announced today.

CHRISTMAS SEALS fight TB and other RESPIRATORY DISEASES

News Item Poses Mystery

A news story, reprinted in the Saturday Review of Literature, has caused many readers to take a second look and wonder at the deeper meaning contained in the article:

"John Elgy, watchman at the Grand Eagle Department Store, last night reported to police that he had discovered the body of a man beneath one of the store's counters.

"According to Elgy, the man was very thin, in his middle thirties and was shabbily dressed. His pockets were empty and there were no marks of identification upon his person.

"Store officials theorize that he was trampled in the Christmas rush and had sought shelter under the counter.

"They were, however, unable to account for what appeared to be nail wounds in his hands.

"The police are continuing their investigation."

Melrose Grange Frolics At Christmas Party

By Joan Marie Connor

The spirit of Christmas was evident in the Melrose school auditorium when the Melrose Grange held its annual Christmas party last weekend.

Sleigh bells heralded the arrival of Santa Claus who questioned the children about their year's behavior before he distributed gifts piled under the Christmas tree.

Christmas songs, poems, and stories were presented under the direction of Florence Goody, juvenile chairman, and Wilburetta Reynolds, youth chairman.

Juvenile and teenage performers were Larry, Terry, Patsy, Christy and Lyle Reynolds, George, Bobby, Tommy and Eddie Goody, John and Bill Walker, Joe McCullough, Tom Cramer, Lynn Buyan, Mary Ann Jakovac, Lucy Taylor, Bob and Debbie Kearns, Juanita DeLeon, Veeta McCleery, and David Thompson.

Adult Grange members presenting "Twas the Night Before Christmas" were Bill Evans, Virgil Taylor, Pearl McCullough, Joan Marie Connor, Anna Taylor, Gladys Evans, John Pettengill, and Tom Connor.

Wrestling Accorded Major Status In High School Athletic Set-up

An age-old sport was given new recognition last week as wrestling joined football, basketball and track as major sports at Beaverhead County High School.

Jim Fitzpatrick, BCHS athletic director, said Dillon became the state's 26th high school to adopt the mat sport as local school board officials officially okayed the program at their regular meeting December 10.

Under State High School Association rules; Dillon joins the Western Division for competition with Anaconda, Butte Central, Helena, Missoula, Phillipsburg and Polson. Other state divisions include the Northcentral, Northeastern and Southern.

The Western divisional tourney will be held February 22 and 23 at Helena with the four top qualifiers in each of the 12 weight classes advancing to the state tourney at Miles City, March 1 and 2.

Kato to Coach
Ted Kato, the popular BCHS gridmaster, has been assigned to coach the local squad which now comprises some 15 aspirants. Dick Mentl, former state wrestling champ from Great Falls now attending Western, will assist Kato with the grapplers.

Opposing team members are matched on weight basis with classes divided into 12 groups—95, 103, 112, 120, 127, 133, 138, 145, 154, 165, 180 and heavyweight.

Open Schedule

The Beavers opened their eight-game schedule last Saturday at Anaconda where the Copperheads took a 40-18 decision.

Local fans will get their first view of the mat team when the Beavers host Bozeman Friday, Jan. 4, in the BCHS gym. The matches will get under way at 6:30 and feature at least 10 individual contests.

The remainder of the schedule follows:

- Jan. 5—Butte Public, A
- Jan. 12—Anaconda, H (tentative)
- Jan. 19—Butte Public, H
- Feb. 9—Butte Central, H
- Feb. 16—Bozeman, A

Squad Named

Vying for berths in the 12 weight classes are James Moonsey, Paul Johnson, John Moniger, Lee Graves, Robin Harrison, Mike Barrett, Rex Huntsman, Larry Lakner, Ron Reblsh, Dave Burton and Stan Lenhart.
