Twin Bridges Bank Starts Full Service

TWIN BRIDGES—The Twin Bridges First National Bank has joined the Foundation for Full Service Banks, according to Paris W. Robert, president of the bank. "The Foundation for Full Service Banks is engaged in a nationwide public education program," Robert said. "Through the use of national advertising, with primary emphasis in network television, the foundation tells the public about the advantages of doing all its banking business with a "Full Service" bank. We are pleased to join the many other progressive banks throughout the country in support of this vital campaign," Robert added. The Foundation for Full Service Banks has a membership of more than 6,200 banks representing 75 per cent of the total deposits in the United States. "Our bank identifies with the national program through displaying the new 'Full Service Bank' symbol on our premises and in our local advertising," Robert said. "Full Service" means that a customer's every banking and financial need can be taken care of under one roof."

During the month of January our bank, through its association with the Foundation for Full Service Banks, will help co-sponsor a television program devoted to the tribe of a Stone Age people living in a rain forest on the southernmost of the Philippine Islands. The village was discovered last July, and the village is believed to be as life was for all men 10,000 years ago. The program will be seen Jan. 12, and will be pre-empting the Carol Burnett Show.

A second "special" will be shown in February, titled the Serengeti, which is a vast area of Tanzania, which is inhabited by a tribe of spear-carrying warriors, known as the Masai, and is also the site of the famous wild life preserve, home of the last great concentration of African mammals on the continent.

Then in April a third special will explore the fascinating but arduous lives of the "last Vikings," descendants of the original Vikings who inhabit Greenland and the Faroe Islands in the North Atlantic. Specific dates for the latter two shows have not yet been determined.

No January Draft According to Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird announced today there will be no military draft in January and possibly none until April.

Laird said he would not project the draft for all of 1972 as the Pentagon presses for its goal of a volunteer army by March 1973.

But his announcement indicated, the 1972 draft may go below the 76,000 men drafted in 1962, the lowest since the Korean War. "We're in a position where we will not have any draft calls in January," Laird told newsmen at a year-end news conference, "and possibly not for the first quarter."

He said four factors will determine the draft call for the remainder of the year. Primarily, he said, they will be the effect of a new $3-billion military pay raise and getting more volunteers and retaining them as well as men already in the armed services.

Laird said two other factors involved are U.S. withdrawal from the Vietnam war and the congressional mandate that the Army be cut to 892,000 men by mid-1972—which Laird called a cut of 70,000 man-years—would also contribute to the low draft calls for the year.

He said all these factors will be analyzed through March to determine drafts for the rest of the year.

Laird's announcement bore out predictions by Selective Service officials that there would be no draft in January.

The young men were selected for nomination by Congressman Shoup on the basis of scores from the Civil Service examination, high school scholastic records, extra-curricular activities, service to school and community and personal recommendations.

Weekend Death Toll At 610

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Traffic accidents took 610 lives over the three-day Christmas holiday weekend that ended at midnight.

California led the nation in number of traffic deaths with 67. The highest number of persons killed in Christmas traffic accidents in recent years was 720 in 1965. Last year's figure was 509.

Weather Relief In Sight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some relief is in sight for Montanans in the wake of a Christmas Day snowstorm that dumped up to two feet of snow in central Montana—but it will be slow coming.

The National Weather Service said warmer temperatures are forecast for Tuesday across the state, but below freezing weather and heavy drifting today were causing local areas of hazardous driving along the east slopes of the mountains.

Heavy snow and near-zero visibility in the Stanford and Lewistown areas of the state caused many minor accidents and forced many motorists returning home after the holidays to stop overnight before continuing on their way.

Fergus County Deputy Sheriff Al Knapstad said motorists had been asked to stay off the roads all day Sunday in that area because visibility was zero and roads were snowpacked before a foot of fresh snow fell.

He said there were "eight or ten" accidents Sunday evening between Stanford and Moccasin.

The Rev. Elmer H. Crosmer of Stanford, whose Trinity Lutheran Church was pressed into duty as a lodging place when facilities in his community were filled, said highway patrolmen were investigating accidents all afternoon.

The Lewistown area bore the brunt of the storm, with 14 inches of new snow falling in a 24 hour period.

The warmer temperatures today caused another problem—heavy drifting and blowing snow along the east slopes of the Rockies.

In western Montana, most roads were snowpacked and icy with chains required for towing units on most of the mountain passes.

Livestock Judging Slated

DILLON—Beaverhead County 4-Hers will take part in a Livestock Judging Day Thursday, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Beaverhead County High School Vo-Ag building according to John Maki, County Extension Agent.

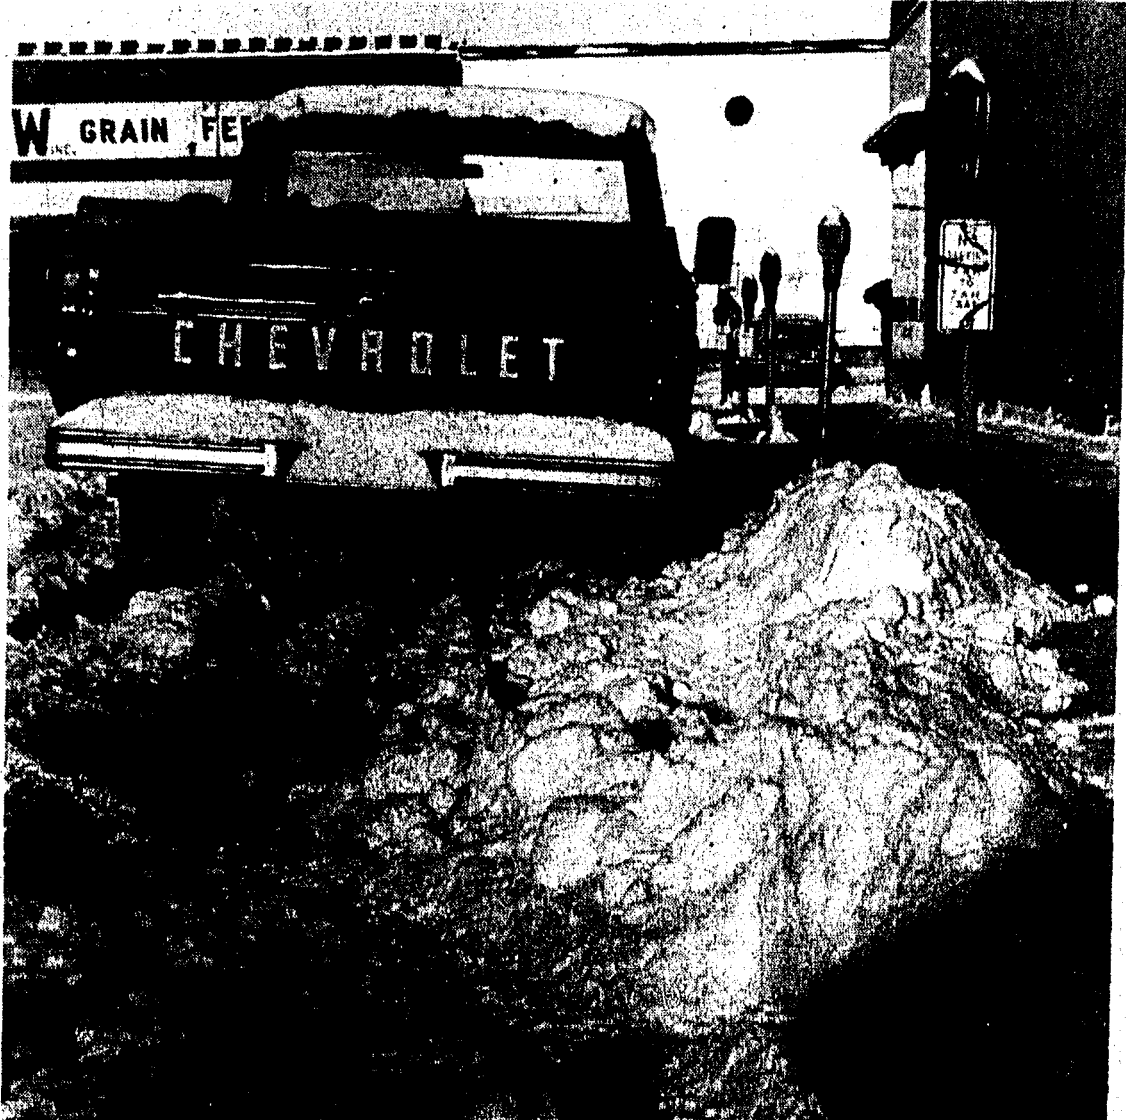

Top four scores turned in by 4-H Club members 14 years old or older, will qualify judges to represent Beaverhead County in the livestock judging contest at the Montana Winter Fair in Bozeman Jan. 29.

Maki said he felt a good program had been planned for the County Livestock Judging Day, which would benefit 4-H clubbers and Future Farmers of America, and would present some of the newer concepts of livestock judging.

The program will include a comprehensive livestock judging school with three hours of classroom work in the morning and live animal judging in the afternoon. Beef cattle, sheep, swine and horses will be judged.

The day's work should be completed by 4 p.m., Maki said.

SNOW, BEAUTIFUL SNOW—fell in Dillon Christmas Night covering the city with a soft clean blanket of trouble. Cars were having difficulty moving from parking zones Monday morning as the sidewalks had been cleaned into the gutters, and the snow stayed there. AND WHAT DID YOU GET FOR CHRISTMAS?—I got two little boys, and I love them, but I sure am tired. They are asleep and I'm thinking Christmas over. There is nothing better that this puppy could have gotten, those boys are just what I wanted. (Don Mrachek Photo)
