BULLDOGS PLAY GREAT FALLS CAGERS TONIGHT

Bent on gaining as much experience as possible before taking to the road next week on a barnstorming trip, the Normal college Bulldogs will play their second game within three days tonight against the College of Education basketballers from Great Falls. The game is set for 8 o'clock at the college gym. There will be no preliminary.

On the College of Education quint will be several stars from the St. Mary's high school aggregation that last season won its district title and went on to participate in the northern divisional Class B title play at Glasgow.

In the first game Wednesday night, the Bulldogs exhibited a classy offensive in winning 57-30 over an independent team from Butte. Coach Bill Straugh is drilling the Bulldogs hard these days in an effort to smooth out their floor play and defense before starting the "invasion" of Idaho, Washington and Oregon where they will play ten games.

The other Dillon cage team, the high school Beavers, will go to Sheridan tonight for its opening game.
